the "State of Details" on p 34, it was simply an oversight in not striking it out of the Proof.
I have set it right.

5. By this post I send (as a Book Packet) the corrected slips of Chaps. V. & VI. The rest will follow as fast as I can give them any last revision.
But please to observe that two leaves ^{containing} (Slips 62-64) are wanting at the beginning of Chapter V. They are at Clowes's, & though I wrote pressingly for them the first thing yesterday morning & again this morning, they have not arrived up to post-time.
I will send them the moment they come. With kindest regards Mrs.

My dear Doctor,

With reference to one most important point in your further corrections
- the Agora - I had prepared a piece for insertion some time ago, but I felt the want of your more perfect study of the question, and, as what I wrote would no doubt need much correction, I am glad that the present mode of proceeding gives you the full opportunity of inserting what you wish to say on the subject.
For this purpose, I re-turyour note upon it, with the explanation you asked from me of Professor Paley's use of the word dithyrambic.

2. In connection with the same matter I have felt all along, very strongly, the want of a little diagram, clearly showing the form of the uprights & top slabs, with their joints like this?)

If you could draw these send them to Cooper, he could engrave them in a day.

3. I forgot yesterday to write about the Map of Mycenae. Mr.
Cooper lost your note of corrections.
The block is now with the Printers, & as it is important to have the Revised in Sheets quickly, we will not take it back for correction till they have sent us the Revised Sheets.
Meanwhile I will consult with Cooper how to amend it.
The place of Mycenae is that given both on Kiepert's and D.W. Smith's Maps (the latter revised by Karl Müller).

Perhaps they have been misled by E. Curtius's mistake (which you mention in one of your corrections) in placing extending Mycenae asper East of Phaeae.

By the bye, Cooper has been in great trouble with a fire in his

It occurs to me that more time would be saved by your returning the slips direct to the Printers, & I could correct any little matters of typography in the Revises made up in sheets.  $\mu\epsilon\tau\epsilon\delta$ &c. must refer to the portent of the golden ram, which Thyestes had in his palace to exhibit to the people in proof of his claim to the sovereignty.

I do not think the citizens would be summoned by herald for the purpose you suggest, even if it suited the context: but 877(6)

The context is entirely about the golden ram.

Please also to bear in mind, that in the time of the tragedies Agamemnon's tomb was believed to be a tumulus, and therefore outside the city. The 'ignominious funeral' they speak of does not suit sculpture in the Lyopé.

The passage most in favour of that view is the one from Pindar quoted in my letter in the Times, where it is said that the Kings of Cyrene lie buried in the agora each in front of his palace.

The Kundawur Bálpa of terpret, without doubt, of the massive basement walls of the old Achaean work. What interested me was, the possibility that you had found indications of some red streaks on the stones, the φοινῖς ναῖον of the poet, the precise meaning of which it is perhaps reserved for you to explain.

My dear Sir:

I have your Esteemed favor of the 18th ult.

While deeply regretting your inability to visit the United States glad to know that no event less happy than the one you name

I, on my part, shall cherish

My dear Dr. Schleimann

I have safely received your "Letter to the Times" which is very long & requires due consideration.

Just at present it would be difficult perhaps for the Editor to find room, but I will consult Mr Murray on the subject & see if he would recommend any modification, altho' I fancy he ^{will} think Mr Simpson not worthy of so much notice from you.

We are now thinking of despatching next week all the cliques of Mycena to Leipzig & Paris.

When shall we get the sheets of the work to press?

I trust Mrs Schleimann is keeping well & with all kind wishes to her & you Believe me

Very Truly Yours

Robt. Hooke

Cher Monsieur Schliemann, je viens de recevoir votre lettre à Vichy, où je suis encore pour quelques jours. Improbable de me procurer le texte d'Euripide. Mais je ne crois pas que vous puissiez traduire φαῖνεται, φαῖνεται, par fantômes ou portraits; il me semble qu'il s'agit de prodiges sim-plement. Toutefois il faudrait voir tout le morceau, car φαῖνεται veut dire apparitions mais non pas toujours fantômes. Je pense être à Paris jeudi ou vendredi prochain; si vous pouvez attendre jusque là, je vous donnerai la traduction exacte. Mais n'y a-t-il à Boulogne aucun professeur qui puisse vous renseigner?
 Il y en a certainement. & vous devriez trouver là aussi des traductions françaises ou latines d'Euripide. Allez donc au collège, et demandez au ~~professeur~~ principal le professeur qui fait le mieux le grec. Vous pouvez toujours y aller de passage.

Ne m'écrivez pas ici mais à Paris, parce que je suis forcé d'aller pour affaires à Clermont et de là à Bourges et à Orléans. Ce qui me retarde un peu.

Schliemann
 11 rue de la Harpe
 Paris

Je suis très heureux d'apprendre que M^{de} Schliemann va vous donner un fil selon votre désir, et de savoir que vous passerez l'hiver à Paris. Nous aurons ainsi l'occasion de nous voir. A présent nous y sommes fixés; car j'ai pris ma retraite et je ne dépends plus absolument de personne. Depuis que la politique a envahi même l'université, il n'y a plus aucun agrément à appartenir à ce corps.

Ne tardez pas trop cependant à me faire envoyer le feuillet de votre ouvrage, parce que ce n'est pas tout de le lire; il faut encore l'étudier et voir clairement (si cela est possible) à quelle série se rattachent ces antiquités. Un article de la Revue des deux mondes ne peut pas se faire en quelques moments comme un article de journal.

Voilà les Russes terriblement battus; cela aura sans doute pour conséquence de prolonger la Guerre, et peut-être d'empêcher les Grecs de s'y mêler. Je ne crois pas que les Grecs soient prêts, quoiqu'ils aient acheté beaucoup de fusils et de poudre. S'il déclarait la guerre, je craindrais beaucoup pour leurs villes ~~et~~ maritimes et pour Athènes, car ils ne pourraient pas empêcher les boulets turcs de tomber sur elles. Mais peut-être les Grecs ont-ils déjà fait ce sacrifice pour assurer l'indépendance de leur frère. Ce qui est sûr, c'est qu'ils ne peuvent rien faire, tant que les Turcs n'auront pas été sérieusement battus par les Russes.

Veuillez, cher Monsieur, me rappeler au souvenir affectueux de Madame Schliemann et me croire votre dévoué

— Em. Burnouf

Il paraît que mon successeur à Athènes, M. Dumont, a écrit que les antiquités de Mycènes sont du moyen-âge. Que dites-vous de cela, cher Monsieur?

My dear Doctor,

The "Postmaster

month's holiday on Friday, and, as she could not come down here alone, and I have been very unwell all the summer, she & my son insisted

1.178 (6)
on my bringing her down to this beautiful place. I was thinking yesterday morning how much you and Mr Schliemann would enjoy a visit to the Island after your return from Athens.
The park about Ventnor especially is admirable in autumn & winter for those used to warm climates.

I brought down all the work for the book (except the Photographs which were too bulky, & I would not risk bringing them, especially as I don't think I want them), so that I shall go on sending you the slips &c just as if I were at home.

My son Morton (the youngest but one) joined us last night, bringing your letter of Friday.
I have sent on the corrected diagram of the already at work correcting

My dear Sir

The passage in Pindar to which I referred in the Times was Pythia V. 90, ἄστερθε δὲ πρὸ δωματίων ἑτέρου λαχόντες ἄϊδαν βασιλῆας ἱεροὶ ἔντι, which must be taken with the context of what had just preceded, and which states that Battus the founder of Cyrene was buried ^{apart} at the end of the agora, ἐνθα προμνοῖς ἄγορᾶς $\frac{1}{2} \pi$ $\frac{1}{2} \chi_2$ $\kappa \epsilon \tau \alpha$ $\theta \alpha \nu \iota \nu$.

This proves that according to ancient Doric (not Aeolian) custom Kings were sometimes interred in the agora.

In my translation of Pindar the former hexam is thus rendered, — "and away from him in front of their palaces lie other sacred kings that have their lot with Hades"; — where perhaps ~~con-~~ ^{no} sacred kings would be more in accordance with our idiom.

I shall regard it as a very great honour and compliment to receive from you a copy of your work, from which I expect great results. The Editor of The B. Quarterly has promised to admit my Review of it.

I pointed this out to him as soon as I saw the Proof. & he is correcting it with the rest. 4. The list for Slip 75 I sent on to Cooper for correction the moment I received it from you. 5. I forward to Floues your correction on p 56 from Cunipides, & also the insertion in Chap VI. about the debris on each side of the lions' gate. With regard to what you add in your letter ^{receiving} this morning about the Electra, I will strike out the reference on p 57, & if you wish to add anything else from the Electra, you had better send it direct to Floues, with a clear reference to the place or places where your note or notes will come. It will be still in time for them to insert.

Farringford Cottage, Freshwater, Isle of Wight.

August 8th 1877.

My dear Doctor,

Perhaps your removal to Paris may have caused a delay in your receiving my card posted yesterday; but I trust the ships posted at the same time have reached you. I have finished the slips of Chapter VIII. & I pause there in order to get time to write to you, & several other letters today. Yesterday I received your two letters of Saturday & Sunday & this morning your first of Monday (all forwarded from Southampton by my son) together with your second letter of Monday, directed to this place.

1. First I must tell you of an unpleasant discovery I made.
On reaching the end of slip 136, I found a great gap in your corrected slip proofs, which begin again at slip 153!
I have kept these proofs together so carefully, that I can hardly believe I have ever received these 16 columns, & fear they must have been lost in the Post. Fortunately, however, it might have been worse, for I have with me the duplicate set, which I keep for reference, and I continue making my corrections on them. I send them to you. You will, no doubt, be able to repeat on them the corrections you made before, but I am sorry you should have the trouble.

1,155 [e] 2. I have sent Cooper your drawings of the slabs, with full instructions. There is one point which I have not yet seen explained.
Apparently, even the Egyptians, Axiom could not sit thus on seats 5 feet high. I presume the explanation is that the earth was high inside the circle, which would also support the dome.
I've ought to make this clear.
3. The Map of Aegolis, as I have said, is in Cooper's hands for correction. As to the longitude & latitude, you have mistaken the figures which refer to minutes for degrees. The degree of longitude (from Greenwich) was put in quite right, but the degree omitted the degree of latitude.

1156(c)

To Paris "after receipt here," I think it safer to direct this to Paris.

I forgot to mention a letter received from Cooper this morning.
He says - "I have got Map of Argolis plugged" (i.e. a new piece of wood put in for reengraving the plate altered) - "and redrawn, I will have it engraved forthwith. Also the trunk & the 2 extra plates will all be in Clowes's hands on Thursday or Friday, notwithstanding the denationalization of the Bank Holiday."

1156(a)

783,1

6. With regard to your insertion respecting the potterd now in Cooper's hands, I will look out for the best place to mention it as I correct the made-up sheet, which I am only now enabled to do, having received the "Revise" of the second sheet from Clowes this morning.

7. In the slip I sent you yesterday, I hope you were pleased with my arrangement of the gold buttons, which I had to put together one by one with great thought & trouble - so utter was the confusion made by the Printers. They seem to have no idea at all of putting the cuts to the text or each other -

I think I have now gone through all the points of your four last letters. For additional safety, I will enclose the few concluding slips of Chapter VIII. with this, & if I can't send you more by to-day's Post, all the greater quantity shall go to-morrow.

I find this a charming place. Opposite to this pleasant cottage is the Marine Villa of our Poet Laureate Tennyson, & the butter from his farm, which our landlady is on such good terms with his people as to procure for us, is worthy to be sung by Homer with his bees & ambrosia.

How little he thought that work relating to the treasures of Mycenae & Argamemnon would be done in an island remoter than Ogygia, under the shade of the trees owned & loved by the great poets of the 19th century!

The Postmaster General, who is busy on a fine scarlet bathing costume, joins with Morton & myself in kindest regards to you & Miss Schliemann.

Believe me, Dear Doctor, Yours very truly,

Philip Smith.
P. S. When I began this, I forgot that you asked me to direct up to Wednesday to Boulogne; but as in your letter of the 6th you ask me to direct to

My dear Doctor

I think I can remove the misunderstanding which, I am sorry to find, has occurred between you & Mr. Floves.
The blame, if any, would fall on me; but I can take it to myself, as I have done my best for the progress of the work.
Mr. Murray's wish, to have all your corrections made on the Slips, made it most necessary for me to send you the Slips as fast as possible.
While doing so, I of necessity let alone the sheets already made up; but, till the Printers received these, they could not go on with the making up of the slips returned to them by you.

I have now sent them the four first sheets with your corrections & mine, & the rest will go to them to-morrow. I have directed them (notwithstanding anything they may have intended to the contrary) to send the Revises & the sheets from which they correct them & you, with the 2 extra copies for Messrs Brockhaus and Kochette. By having the sheets ~~with~~ with the corrections made by yourself & me, you will be able yours & which are mine, exceptions) & my correction of the engraving in red ink.

Let me beg you to take it on trust that I have never superseded your corrections without a very strong reason, which, however, it would have been tedious to state in every case.

Now as to the mode of proceeding when you receive the Revises from the Printer, if you will kindly return them ^{corrected} to me, together with the sheets containing our former corrections (which will be as necessary to me as they are to you), I will

You will be glad to hear that I have this morning received a letter from Messrs. Stokes, instructions about the Revises.

You will therefore, as I said in my last letter, receive them from the Printers, you will return your corrected Revises to me, with the latter all the Proofs of cuts that I have pinned & to, in order that I may see that my instructions about their insertion have been carried out. I find that such Proofs have been removed from some of the slips previously returned.

2. Before receiving my instructions for this arrangement, Miss Clunes had sent me ^{some} Revises in Slips, which I am returning to them to be made up into sheets.
Meanwhile, in case you have not yet sent off to me the additional remarks on the Agona, mentioned in your last letter I send you ^{by Book for the Revises} ~~the~~ ^{the} ~~corrected~~ in slip of that part, that you may see where to insert your additions. In returning

1147(6) the corrected proof to Clunes, I will tell them that you will send them the addition.

3. As to the inquiry in your card, I think the Book will not be too short; but if you wish to add a chapter it will not be at all too long. With such a chapter of 20 or 30 pages, I don't think it would exceed 400 pages.

Accept my warmest thanks for your very kind expressions of feeling to my children & myself. We are greatly enjoying our stay here.
I wish you could have seen

Notes for Dr Schliemann p 3. The Argolid is the proper English form, equal to Argolis (without the article) "The Argolis" won't do at all.

p 15. It is impossible to fill up the references to future pages till we see where they fall. The German printers, like ours must insert these in the last revision of the Proofs.

p 27. "In the depth" - much better one word - it makes a verse.

p 29. The "Ichmography" I make Plate VI (according to its order in the Book). It is so much a landscape that we can't call it a Plan.

My dear Dr. Schleiernann

Any delay in the matter of your work is all yr own, we are innocent.

Not a sheet yet returned for press. It is a work that requires great care & time in the printing & we have now no chance of publishing at the period we wished & were aiming for & you are answerable.

The list of Illustrations, the Contents & the Index are the very last thing to be done & that cannot be until the work is finished.

Whether I W. G., writes the Preface or not, he will certainly not do so, until he has a set of sheets of the work to read in the first instance & this we are not able to send him.

I have no doubt that Mr P. Smith will attend to the other matters.

We have sent the Electrotypes of the woodcuts to Hachette & Brookhaus, but Cooper is always having more sent to him to do — so there is no end to the matter & we don't get on. The paper has been made & all ready but not a sheet can be printed off. You want proofs & the revised slips & so does

P. Smith & thus there is a double delay.

I do not think there will be time for your proposed Addit. Chapter.

Your letter appears in the Times this morning. I will send a copy to the Builder & Guardian with yr Compl^s.

I forward your letter to me or to Mr Murray in Scotland & she will do what is right as to Mr G. Mr Murray will be back here the 1st week in Sept. & I leave next Wednesday for the Continent & expected to have had your work all settled previously.

Yours truly
Robt. Cooke

My dear Doctor,

You will have observed from the dates of my letters that the pass between Paris & this place takes two days.
Accordingly I received your letter of the 16th D-day, & could not therefore forward the Proof of Clowes yesterday. It goes D-day

I have since received your Telegram, which is incomprehensible to me. I am not only not detaining anything from Clowes, but you know that I have nothing to detain. It is about a week since I sent you the last of the Proofs, & as you know I arranged for the Revises to be sent direct to you, and I am now awaiting their return to me. Meanwhile there is absolutely nothing in my hands I send to the Printer. What has really detained them is the further insertions on Slip 66 about the Agora, which I quite agree with you in thinking necessary, but assuredly their insertion was not my doing. When you return me the Revises in Sheet, I shall not detain them from Clowes.

I have read this morning with much pleasure your reply to Livins in the "Times" which may

M^r. Dr. Henry Schliemann, Boulogne-sur-Mer, France.
Honored Sir,

Being a passionate lover of classical art and literature, I have carefully read the various reports on the results of your excavations at Troy and Mycenae, ^{which} you have from time to time published in different English and German journals.
And so far as I am able to judge, your positions and interpretations of these results are correct. Prompted by disinterested motives, by a pure love of science, you have done more towards bringing the mode of life and the state of art of the ancient Greeks to our knowledge and elucidating Homer's Iliad, than any other modern scholar or antiquary. You deserve the praise and gratitude of the whole scientific world.

Being desirous of bringing the quint-essence of the results of your excavations at Troy to the reading American public, I would be very grateful to you, if you can consistently do it, to have the goodness to send me a copy of your work: "Troy and its Remains," for the purpose of giving it an extended notice (Supplementing) either in the "National Repository," an extensively read monthly Magazine devoted to literature, art, and Religion (published in New York and Cincinnati), or in the "Christian Advocate," (New York), a large weekly journal devoted to Religion and literature (54,000 subscribers).

Should you feel inclined to cause the work to be sent from London, it may be delivered to "B. F. Stevens, U. S. Despatch Agent, 4, Trafalgar Square, London."

Wishing you abundant success in all your future undertakings, I am, Sir, with sentiments of the highest esteem, respectfully your unknown admirer and obedient servant,

Dr. W. J. Chandler,
U. S. Minister Resident.

Dear Sir

You may perhaps remember that I had the pleasure of meeting you at dinner at Mr Gladstones and also at the Salters' Company - You were kind enough to ask me to pay you a visit at Troy! I am going from this ~~to~~ next week to Montenegro and then to Athens and Mycenae, in your vacation of which I take an extraordinary interest. I should be delighted if I could meet you at Athens where I believe you are going very soon - but in case you are not there when I arrive

Will you do me the great favour of leaving ^{for} me a letter at the Hotel d'Angleterre which I believe is the principal Hotel near the Palace where I once stayed - giving me instructions how to proceed.

Any information which you can give me will be very thankfully received. I have a letter from Lord Derby & introduce me to our Minister at Athens
 - but perhaps you can facilitate my visit to the Pombos at Mycena

me tomorrow between say to you - no more clichés can go out at present - we have nearly 3 months before the time of publica-much from you. They it into their power to send out a single complete copy before ours appears.

You run the risk of frustratrun counter to this.

I never contemplated the posits sale will pay the cost of the amount swelled & I must entreat you not to
