Dear F. Schleiermacher,

I beg you to accept my best thanks for the translation of the Iliad into modern Greek by Mr. Constantinides which you have been so kind as to send me. Unfortunately I have neglected my Greek for many years and am no longer able to read it. I often regret that I did not, like you, make a study of that magnificent language.
I remember very much a remark made by you in which I entirely agree—namely, that the best way to understand thoroughly ancient Greek and to enter completely into the spirit of the language, and to learn modern Greek, and to be able to use it with facility both in speaking and writing. I used to present this doctrine many years ago, and I recommend my friends who wished their sons to become masters of ancient Greek to send them for a year studying to Athens.

Hoping that Mrs. Schinner soon recovered her health and that you are well,

I am

Yours truly

Dear Sir -

On page 331 of your noble book on Tany and its remains I find the statement -

"I also found fourteen of those copper weapons which are frequently met with here, but which have never been discovered elsewhere - - - -"

May I be allowed to inform you that I have in my possession as Curator of the Museum in Colchester Castle two "copper weapons" precisely resembling those of your collection which I saw at the South Kensington

 Museum - There were found by a friend of mine among grave mounds on the shores of Lake Superior in North America, and are probably formed by hammering from some of the Native copper no more - only found on the surface in that district of America.

I should be very glad of an opportunity of showing you these weapons.
 If I knew where I should be likely to find you at S. Kensington or elsewhere in London I would gladly bring them up, and so give myself the pleasure of making your acquaintance - I have the honour to be very faithfully yours.

582/8/ is intended to be used, that I cannot at present be of much service to you but with a view of giving you some slight information, I will assume the following data,

- 1st. That the size of the room is 40 feet long, by 20 feet wide,
- 2nd That the total thickness of the floor may be 18 inches.
- 3rd That the total load on the floor including the construction shall be 2 cwt, or 224 lbs per foot superficial and. Finally. That you wish, as much as possible to combine efficiency with economy.

In the case above assumed, I should propose to use rolled iron beams 15 inches deep. which at the span of 20 feet. would be strong enough for the load stated. and to place these beams 8 feet apart, which would divide the room into five bays. requiring four beams: if the end walls, are not of sufficient thickness, or are external walls, some further provision of angle

To Mr Schlieman
Athens.

Sir,
The Secretary of the R.I.B.A. has this evening mentioned to me, that you were in want of some information with regard to the cost and construction of Fire proof flooring - and has suggested that I should write to you on the subject: I have the honor to be an Honorary Associate of the Institute, and I beg to assure you that it would give me the greatest pleasure to be of the slightest use to a distinguished a member of our Society - as yourself. But I fear that in the absence of the necessary information as to size of the building &c. where the flooring iron and tension rods may be required at each end of room to resist the thrust of the arches at those points. The fire proof floor I should propose to fill in between these iron beams should be that known as "Dermat", or some similar construction, and would be as follows. A rough wooden centering should be constructed between the beams, having a rise of 1 inch for each foot the beams are apart, in this case the rise would be 8 inches. This centering is roughly boarded on top and acts as the lower flange of the girder, and is so constructed that it can be removed from underneath; you then prepare the materials which are as follows clean broken bricks, or broken tiles or stones of any sort, broken into small pieces about the size of an egg. That is the largest pieces, the smaller fragments being used as well, clean crushed gravel, or sand, and gypsum or plaster of paris. The whole stirred up together and mixed with water and filled in at once on top of the boarding. It sets rapidly, and on the centering being removed the underside presents a smooth surface which requires very little additional plastering even where a very smooth ceiling is required, the floor above may be either wood boarding laid on wood fillings bedded on top of arches, or may be of cement or asphalt or any substance readily available. See rough tracing enclosed of a section of floor: it is a very common mode of construction here, to use concrete filling for the arches: mixed with ordinary lime or portland cement, but neither of these substances resist the action of fire so well as gypsum. The proportions of the various materials varies somewhat with their nature, viz. whether bricks, tiles, stone &c. and I could furnish you with same, if I knew the cost of materials most accessible on the spot, Messrs. Dermats, I have no doubt would supply you with the gypsum, and the iron beams weigh 11 cwt each. or $2\frac{1}{4}$ Tons for the four, and I think the present price f.o.b. at Antwerp for such beams is about £7-per ton, cost of freight to Athens, I fear I cannot tell you, it may give you some rough idea of the cost per foot superficial, if I tell you, that Messrs. Demetris provide all materials, and send men to fill in same at about 9² per foot, in neighborhood of London; that is, all materials for the arches, but not including iron beams, or any wood floors, or plastering of ceilings: if your rooms are to contain any precious objects, and you wish to take extra precaution, I should advise you to have the iron beams bracketed with rough wood work, and thickly plastered, but I don't think there would be much risk without this, the of Belgian manufacture, could be shipped direct to you from Antwerp. I think - but am not quite sure - that the gypsum costs about $2\frac{1}{6}$ per 112 lbs., and I fear that I cannot give you very precise data as to the cost of your floors, so much would depend upon what sort of materials you have readily available in the neighborhood, and also as to cost of labour. But beyond the making of the wood centering, the other work could be done cheaply, as ordinary labourers, under careful inspection, as to mixing the materials properly; could do all that was required.

The four iron beams for the floor of dimension stated, would (151)

I take to be the doors. The most usual plan recommended by the Fire Insurance Companies here, is to have two doors to each opening with a space of about four feet between, as sketch below

The walls being thicker on one or both sides is deemed to give the necessary space between doors.

Like I have several times noticed on fires occurring, that the carelessness of the attendants has defeated the proposed object, by their having closed the outer door only. I very much fear that which I have written above may be of small service to you, but if you will give yourself the trouble to send me a 582 (f) write sketch plan of your proposed building. With figured dimensions in English feet, or French metres, and also state what materials for the arches are readily available and whether floors are intended of wood, and if ceilings are to be plastered, I shall be happy to try and give you some more definite information also, if you wish it. I would willingly confer with Messrs. Bennett on the subject, for they are doing the floors for several large jobs for which I have designed the iron work, and I am quite sure would give all the information in their power.

I must apologise for having made my description so tedious,

Accept my thanks for your kind inquiries after my children. The "Postmaster" General & her two brothers at home are well (excepting colds) & occupied as usual.
Berthold writes from Sagan in good spirits, but complains of the stagnation of all business. The chief feeling of the Russians there (he says) is disgust at their government for the war and its consequences. He passed through Moscow before he could receive my letter with the address of your son.

I hope the young don & d'pud

I must leave the rest for the letter I write to you at Paris, remaining meanwhile,

My dear Doctor,

As the post for Athens goes out this afternoon, I send you a line of very hearty thanks for your kind letter received this morning; but I will not write at any length lest you should already have left for Paris, according to the intention expressed on the envelope of your letter, though you do not say how soon you were starting.
I will write to you more fully at Paris.

Since your last letter I have been hoping to hear from you again with further news of Mrs Schliemann's progress to recovery. I know I am very sorry that you are not able to give a better account. But I trust that her recovery will proceed more speedily as the summer advances, for with us (at least) the cold ~~last~~ spring has been most trying for invalids. You do not say whether Mrs Schliemann is with you at Athens, or still at Paris, which place I fear her state of health has not permitted her to leave. But I trust that she will still enjoy many happy years with you in your beautiful new house at Athens.

While hoping to hear from you I have been also often intending to write & enquire after Mrs Schliemann and about your own movements. But I have been in very poor health this spring, and much depressed by thoughts of this time last year. I am daily expecting the arrival of the remains of my second son, Theodore, who died at Guayaquil two years ago, & lay them with his dear Mother's. Through the kind invitation of a friend, I have had a little holiday at Oxford, and I was much pleased with the city, which I had not seen before, though I had known Cambridge

Dear Dr. Schliemann,
 Your last letter followed me here, on shall not return home for a week I sent it off at once to my friend a request that he would attend to it, & do what is wanted. This I have no doubt he will do, better than I could, as Let. R. J. D. L. knows all the manufacturers

 what is wanted -

He & heads, a great have no doubt will do a good deal to oblige me.

 So I have no doubt you will get what you want.
 You can have concrete floors without iron because they have them, every where in Italy & in India - but iron is no doubt best -

I am here, & you will see by the date, visiting the great exhibition - The Messieurs

Je vous remercie de l'honneur que vous voulez bien me faire en me conviant à dîner avec vous & certainement je serai exact demain au rendez-vous que vous me fixez au grand-Hôtel.

J'ai vu le Plombier qui continuera la réparation de la terrasse, et pourra des agrafes au droit du creux, au dessus du balcon. Ce travail ne pourrait être fait de façon à offrir une garantie définitive; car, ainsi que je vous l'ai dit, il y aura lieu, sitôt que vous le pourrez, de relancer de la pierre et de reprendre le travail beaucoup.

Милый возлюбленный папа!

Как раз перед отъездом моим из Одессы захватил я на морту и к великой моей радости написал такой любезное письмо Твое от 14 Июня.
Душевно рад был ты и у этого пись ма, что Ты составил себе теперь хорошее мнение обо мне. Я до сих пор темно страшно много занимаюсь все годь начиная с сентября, особенно же трудился в Агрок. и Мат. Результа ты моей заботы прекрасны, ибо я блестительно выдержал экзамены несмотря на всю строгость требований в нынешнем году. С осени мне опять придется много заниматься, чтобы и в следующем году также блестяще но выдержал экзамены, как и в нынеш нем. Главнейшие мои заботы сосредото чатся тогда на римском праве, при чем получил заманчивую профессию придется пользоваться различными другими руководствами и пособиями.

Я вполне одобряю Твоему совету в том, что никогда не вмешиваюсь в какое-либо дело. Притом же у нас в Москве свободные уже давно прекратились. Благодаря убавлению числа ректоров нашего университета всякие беспорядки у нас прекратились и волнений уже не было. Совсем другое дело в Киеве. Здесь еще и теперь по временам происходят страшные вещи так напр. недавно здесь убить князя Алексея Александровича полковника барона Гейкина. Убийца скрылся.
Здесь студенты вообще крайне неспокойны и очень способны увлекаться идеями. В виду этого я очень рад, что не состою студентом Киевского Университета. Кремль того в Московском Университете юридический факультет самый лучший в России. Студенты у нас более занимаются наукою и далеко не настолько увлекаются идеями.

Здесь стоит весьма жаркая погода Температура воды в Днепре дости-гает уже теперь до +22° К. В Киеве я думаю недолго и вероятно завтра уже укажет обратное в Москву. Осталось только думать о проезде как либо в ближайшие окрестности Москвы Задумав до моего отъезда из Одессы писать к Тебе письмо, адресованное в Ассамблею (я тогда еще не знал, что Ты уехал в Париж) Надеюсь, что письмо это будет Тебе интересно.
Так-как Марина Георгиевна мною не управляла, то я согласно Твоему пред-писанию отослала кредитное письмо на 1000 р. обратно Генибургу.
Крайне сожалею слышать, что жена Твоя больна. Надо надеяться, что благоприятный климат в Ассамблеи благоприятно повлияет на ее здоровье.
Когда будешь ей писать, то сообщи подробнее ей с моей стороны посылку.
С времени моего последнего пребывания здесь, Киев необычайно увеличился в объеме и еще более покорился

PATENT DOUBLE BUCKLE PLATES, AS APPLIED TO FIRE-PROOF FLOORS, ROOFS, &c.

FIRE-PROOF FLOORING AND ROOFING have been restricted in their adoption chiefly on account of their great cost. The introduction of the Patent Double Buckle Plate, and the mode of construction now proposed, has reduced the cost so much that, when the great advantages are considered, their adoption is certain. In addition to being incombustible, it must be borne in mind that these Floors are air-proof, water-proof, afford no opportunity for harbouring vermin of any kind, are more cleanly and durable. Compared with the Fire-proof Floors as heretofore constructed, the following advantages are claimed:—

1. The saving of the brick arching where floors have been so constructed.
2. Where floors have been constructed of concrete supported on iron laths, the saving of most of the laths and of about 20% of the quantity of concrete.
3. By reducing the weight of the iron supporting beams in a proportionate ratio to the less quantity of concrete required.
4. By saving the expense of scaffolding and centring necessary in the construction of the brick arch or ordinary concrete floor.
5. By saving the expense of finishing ceilings necessary by the old modes of construction, the embossed Double Buckle Plates forming an Ornamental Roof.
6. By saving the expense of the Builder and other works in proportion to the lesser thickness of floor. The floors as now proposed will not exceed one half the thickness of timber floors, or fire-proof floors as heretofore constructed.

From the comparatively moderate cost at which these floors can be constructed, they should be largely adopted for—

HOTELS, OFFICES, SCHOOLS, FACTORIES, WAREHOUSES, WORKSHOPS, STORES, MANSION HOUSES, CITY DWELLINGS, and PUBLIC BUILDINGS, &c., especially in buildings where there are places of business under dwelling-houses, or in connection therewith.

To assist in estimating the cost of the iron work of floors—which includes Supporting Beams, Cross Laths, and Buckle Plates—based on the present price of iron, and delivered in Glasgow, the following rates may be taken:—

For SPANS of	8 feet		4/6		per square yard.
"	12 "		5/		"
"	16 "		5/6		"
"	20 "		6/		"

Concrete.—In estimating the cost of concrete it may be taken as approximately correct that one cubic yard will lay about five square yards of floor for ordinary spans of 8 and 12 feet.

The best kind of concrete should consist of one part of Portland cement to five parts of broken bricks and brick dust; when bricks cannot be had conveniently, broken stones and gravel may be used, but their fire-resisting qualities are not so great.

The surface of these floors may be finished with a thin coating of cement and sand, or left in a condition suitable for laying tiles or timber flooring as may be wished.

Estimates and further Particulars may be had on application.

Paris,

Dear Sir,

Confirming our respects of 6th instant we address the present to your Paris residence on the chance of your having returned there. Our object in writing is to acquaint you that we are still purchasers of Bonds of the Matanzas & Sabanilla Rail^{way} Co. for the Sinking Fund - these Bonds we frankly tell you are very scarce & firmly held, and the price we now offer is 100% including the dividend due 15th instant. If therefore you are inclined to dispose of, say £5000 to £6000. of your Bonds at this rate, we shall be obliged by your telegraphing us at your first opportunity. We have only a day or two left before we must decide to proceed with the drawing, so that unless our proposal promptly reaches you we fear it may be too late.

We remain, Dear Sir
Yours truly

[Die genannte Ab-

Gefragter Herr Doctor!
Erfreulich, da ich mich sehr willigst dankbar - Mittheilung in Ihrer Zeit in Auftrag zu machen sage.
In der von R. Fleischer herausgegebenen, deutschen Kasseler (Berlin. Werke), 1. Jahrgang, 1. Aufl. 7 April 1878, p. 42 aus dem Aufsatz: 'über die Mystik der alten Ägypter' von Brugsch Bey les. ist: die (in der Mystik) eingeworfene unter der Ä-gypten geyhten und die viefenstet fortwährend den an sich zu tragen. Es besteht selbst die reine Kontinuität der ägyptischen Sprache, wie es die neueste Abbildung zeigt. - In diesem Ä-gyptischen Museum sind es nicht weniger, als eine große Menge von Hieroglyphen, Königen, Priestern und Toten sowie neuen Mosaiken, die ich zeigen.

nicht alle Band in der Kunst zeigen, wie sie in dieser äußerlichen Markmal als Eigenschaft sind als Zeichen der Mythen zu lassen.

Mein Ziel ist es, daß ich die wichtigsten Band Künste nachrichtig lesen gelernt, und die Kunstwerke an der Hand. Stelle beständig meine Kenntnisse. Es ist das in Herrn Meyer p. 179 Abbildung No 352 und No 351 (am. Ägyptischen Formallan). Abgesehen davon, daß bei Herrn die oben stehende Kunstwerke zu, in der Hieroglyphen aufmerksamkeit dargestellt ist, steht die Form nicht sehr auf dem Niveau. Als "3 Kunstwerke" in No 352 könnte man auch festigen der Kunst über Mängel an [redacted] zu nicht haben - die allerdings in dieser [redacted] nicht gezeigt ist.

Ob also der Alabastergips No 335 (flache Form mit Gürtel, mit dem 3ten Band) mit dem zu zeigen ist, steht mir selbst sehr zweifel-haft - allerdings nicht zweifelhaft: die Gürtel sind auch vielleicht 2 Alabasterstücke, aufeinander setz-bar, sein die stehende Längsrichtung von Mangelstein in der Gürtel.

Ich will auch noch erwähnen die Mykenische Funde auf Bergwerken, Ägypten, ferner, besonders die selbst p. 149 etc. : "Kunst" (Ägypt. ?). Kunst mit goldenen Namen auf der Stein, p. 152, sowie auch p. 438; auch auch auf in der Kunst Glaswerk p. 111, 112, 113.

Dies ist interessant sein es natürlich, wenn auch die Alabasterstücke als die wichtigsten Kunstwerke der Ägypter bis zum Ende der Welt.

Mein Ziel ist die Hieroglyphen vollständig formen; vielleicht aber könnte die Mitteilung der zu zeigen, daß die, zum Ende, über die Ägypti-sche Kunst dieser, sein vielleicht auch noch an

CHARLES SCRIBNER'S SONS, Publishers,

SUCCESSORS TO

SCRIBNER, ARMSTRONG & CO., 743 & 745 Broadway.

New York, June 21st, 1878.

Dr. Henry Schliemann,

Dear Sir:- The important changes which have recently taken place in our business firm, as fully stated in the enclosed circular, have somewhat delayed our regular correspondence.

We now hasten at the first convenient opportunity to let you hear from us and enclose herewith a copyright statement showing the sale of your "Myceus", for the first six months after publication.

Sincerely,

We sincerely trust that the showing will prove entirely satisfactory to you — considering the extreme dullness of the past four months we think that the book has done remarkably well in point of sale for such a high priced one.

If as you suggest in your esteemed favor of April 11th it should be thought advisable to bring out hereafter a new Cheaper Edition, with an additional chapter containing your new discoveries at "Myceus", the demand would doubtless be largely increased. — You will notice that the amount on the enclosed statement will be due October 7th — please instruct us in good season where it is to be placed at your disposal.

Permit us to add in closing, that it will be the aim of our new firm to merit whatever good will has heretofore been felt towards this House by its Authors, its friends, or by the general public, and that to this end our best efforts will be directed.

Assuring you of our sincere regard we remain Very truly yours

NEW-YORK, June 11th, 1878.

The Publishing and Book-selling Business carried on for many years by Charles Scribner & Co., and afterward by Scribner, Armstrong & Co., will be continued in all its departments at the old stand [Nos. 743 and 745 Broadway] under the firm name of

CHARLES SCRIBNER'S SONS.

JOHN BLAIR SCRIBNER.

CHARLES SCRIBNER.

. In this connection it may interest the public to know that SCRIBNER'S MONTHLY and ST. NICHOLAS are published by "Scribner & Co.," a Joint-Stock Company, the literary and business management of which is in the hands of Dr. Holland and Mr. Roswell Smith. The stock in the Magazine Co. held by Scribner, Armstrong & Co. has been purchased by Charles Scribner's Sons; Dr. Holland and Mr. Roswell Smith retaining their stock, and continuing the management as heretofore.

The publishing house of CHARLES SCRIBNER'S SONS was founded by Mr. Charles Scribner in 1846, in connection with Mr. Isaac D. Baker.

In 1850 Mr. Baker died, and Mr. Scribner continued the business under his own name, and later under the style of Charles Scribner & Co., until his death in 1871. Since then the business has been carried on by the late firm of Scribner, Armstrong & Co.

Among the many works published by Messrs. Charles Scribner's Sons will be found the writings of such American authors as Pres. Noah Porter, D. D., Rev. Drs. T. D. Woolsey, Charles Hodge, Archibald Alexander, Mark Hopkins, William Adams, W. G. T. Shedd, Philip Schaff (editor "Lange's Commentary"), George P. Fisher, H. B. Smith, Henry M. Field and Horace Bushnell.—Hon. George P. Marsh, Dr. J. G. Holland (editor "Scribner's Monthly"), Donald G. Mitchell (Ik Marvel), Dr. Henry Schliemann, Profs. Wm. D. Whitney, Francis Bowen, A. L. Perry. J. T. Headley, Clarence Cook, Mrs. Mary Mapes Dodge (editress "St. Nicholas"), Mrs. Frances Hodgson Burnett, Marion Harland, Saxe Holm, etc., etc.

Another class of publications which the House has introduced to American readers—the authorized reprints of English authors—includes the works of James Anthony Froude, Dean Stanley, Max Müller, Archbishop Trench, Prof. John Stuart Blackie, Prof. B. Jowett, and Geo. Smith; together with the "Speaker's Commentary," and the English translations of Curtius' "History of Greece," and Mommsen's "History of Rome."

In their school text-book department, Messrs. Charles Scribner's Sons publish the widely circulated Maps and Geographies of Prof. Arnold Guyot, which received the highest medals at both the Vienna and Philadelphia International Exhibitions. They also publish the New Illustrated School Readers, edited by Prof. E. A. Sheldon, Felter's Arithmetics, Tenney's Text-books in Natural History, and Prof. Cooley's Physics.

An important enterprise of the House is the publication of Bryant's "Popular History of the United States," by William Cullen Bryant and Sydney Howard Gay. This work, which is sold only by subscription, has reached the second volume, and will be completed by the issue of two additional volumes, each a large octavo of about 700 pages.

My dear Doctor,

I cannot tell you how

Thursday, & how much I felt your kindness in calling, when you had so little time in London.
H. E. the Postmaster-General begs to unite her best thanks with mine for your very kind enquiries. She is but I hope her bronchitis is subsiding. My brother told me of his meeting you in Abbeville Street,

I was sorry to hear that you gave such a sad account of Mr. Schlemann's health, but I trust that time & the mountain air will work a perfect cure. Pray give her my best wishes & regards.

On the 6th instant I received your kind letter from Athens, ^{Full May 30th} whither I addressed an answer by the same day's mail, in case you should not have left Athens before we arrived. I intended to write to you at Paris also, but I had a hard ten days' work of examining at College at Taunton, & returned very unwell.

In writing to you at Athens I omitted to speak of the Trojan Collection, which has been constantly in my thoughts, considering the best way of carrying out your wishes. I have touched on the matter carefully with several persons of influence; but I agree with you that no ~~positive~~ decisive steps could have been taken while all men's minds were full of the Eastern question, & that now nothing can be done till after the vacation. Meanwhile I have been preparing to put the case before the public on the basis you have laid down. To come to a more unworthy subject - myself - I thank you for your kind interest in my

Text:- Many attacks will answer themselves by their obvious hollowness & in consistency, or be answered by true & new facts; like the letters which Napoleon kept unopened for weeks during his Italian campaign, & was surprised to find how many had answered themselves.

Finally, as Dr. hat is left worth uncovering & really needing an answer, it will be all gain & no loss to wait till you see all the misrepresentation is hard to be borne, leave it in the first instance & see how far one Reviewer will give the answer to another - like Cadmus standing by while the armed men slew one another -

An example occurs this very day. My brother has asked me to read the Proofs of the "Quarterly" as the sheets are made up. & to-day I have read Gardner's review, which I am sure will please you, though he also combats some of your special opinions. In this Review, without naming A. S. Murray, he quietly & contemptuously demolishes the nonsense he has written about the parallel with the remains at Skallstad, & he also gives an effective rebuff to the spirit of your opponents. You have sown the dragon's teeth; but be sure that you have nothing to fear from the armed men. Leave them to fight each other, & the victor is sure to crown you.

3rd After all some statements may require an answer from yourself; but here, above all, I entreat you, don't be in a hurry. There is a tale of a sceptic who said to a priest, —
"I don't believe in your devil:

I should like to see your devil"; & the other answered — "Can't you wait?" Now you don't believe (whatever the priest did) that the sceptic ever saw the devil; & whatever devils may threaten to cross your path, you can afford to wait — nay, you do better to wait.

For, first, many attacks will fall still-born, or if they survive, lie like an exposed child, which will die if you don't take it up. For example, you answered Simpson's attack about Troy in the July 'Fraser', & all the attention he gained was from your reply; you let alone his attack about criticisms in one focus, & all the new light & happy suggestions that must come out of reviews by men like Newton, Stuart Poole, Gardner, Paley, &c. &c.

In this point of view I am not sorry, after all, that I am not reviewing the book. I can watch the game, & perhaps, at the right time, come in to help you (though you will hardly need help) in summing up the whole discussion, as it will be your right to do, when all your critics have done saying all they can.

I won't do you the wrong to suppose any apology needful for advising you so freely; though I must apologize for troubling you at such length - the paper on which I began to write will show how little I intended it -

I have only just begun to read Mr. Pooles review in the "Contemporary"; & I find him only laying the foundations in a comprehensive discussion of ^{the} ancient art that may have a bearing on Mycenæe -

Now about the Trojan collection, I have been so incessantly occupied with finishing my Recess. History (which waited for the "Mycenæe") with Braybrooke on my hands at the same time, & the sheets of the Q. R. Soc. & South Kensington Soc., as well as Enquire about, the attention it excites. On the Bank Holiday, the 'Times' of next day said that "Dr. Schliemann's collection formed the principal attraction yesterday at the South Kensington Museum"; & the "Illustrated London News" of last Saturday gave a long description with wood-cuts - I am thinking of feeling my way to some decisive step as to the future

Милый возлюбленный папа!

Со нетерпением жду я Твоего письма, но в сожалению я еще давно не получила.

Возвратившись из Одессы, я поселилась здесь в Мазилкове недалеко от Москвы. Природа здешней местности конечно никогда не может сравниться с грозно-величественною природою Кавказа, но все таки местное изображение здесь довольно красиво.

На высоком берегу реки раскинут обширный тенистый парк, представляющий прекрасное место для прогулок. Кроме того здесь довольно много полей и лугов. По причине сухости почвы и отсутствия болот воздух тутъ весьма Здорово. Хотя теперь еще продолжается канicularное время, однако я возобновил мои занятия по юридическим наукам. Экзамены мои в Мавг. месяце сошли блестя-тельно и я фелло только, чтобы учиться мои в следующем учеб-как в прошедшем. Самым луч--шим профессором в следующем году будет Ковалевский, человек весьма умный и великодушный -гасение и импозитив свой пред-мет — государственное право.

Он кроме того пользуется громадною популярностью среди студентов. На его лекции сте-кается даже много студентов с других факультетов. Наболее придется мне заниматься по римскому праву. Это предмет крайне трудный, но в то же безусловно необходимый и весьма важный для всякого юриста.

Dear Sir. — In reply to your enquiry made at my not care to take the former owing to the difficulty in transshipping at Syra: the Portland Cement we can take at the following rates viz —

 London " " " per channel steamer to Lpool 50/- per ton —

I enclose one of our sailing lists & shall

To Messrs M. S. Shalor Co

Dear Sirs -

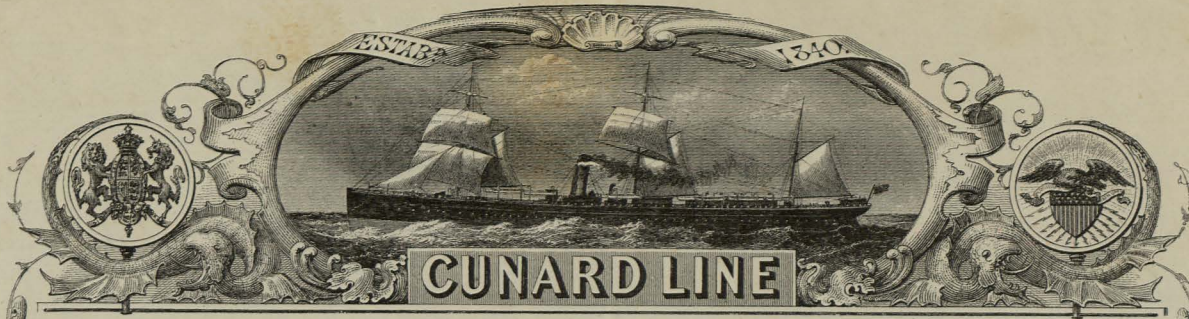

Replying to your P.C. of yesterday with reference to your enquiry as to rate for Iron Beams this to the Piræus - I beg to say that I am this morning advised by my Liverpool firm that they cannot take the beams at a this rate owing to the difficulty they anticipate in getting them transhipped at Syra - The rate to the latter port is 25/- per ton + 5% ^{from Liverpool} There is occasionally a steamer dispatched from Liverpool direct to the Piræus by which you could obtain a more favoured rate than we could offer the agents are Messrs. W. Johnston & Co. Chapel Street Liverpool: should they however have no sailing: if you will let me know I will re-open the matter with my Liverpool people & see if anything can be done. —

Yours truly.

at 141, Cannon Street.

London Bridge, E.C.

26th June 1878

Dear Sir

We send you letter we have received from Mr. Cunard.

It has occurred to us that we might as well send you the Portland Cement you require and that if you order both the Cement & the Iron from us we think we shall be able to obtain a favorable rate for freight. We use Cement largely and procure it from the Durham Brick Lime & Cement Company, Limited, and which is a firm of the highest standing and well known everywhere.

We do not know how much Cement you require; but, assuming the quantity is not less than 100 casks, our price would be about $9\frac{5}{6}$ per cask of 400 lbs gross.

The casks would be strongly bound for shipment and lined with asphalted paper.

Please reply and say exact quantity of Cement you will require and upon receipt of same we will quote you exact price & arrange for rate of freight.

Yours faithfully

I think that an asphalt covering might be the best, but during your stay in Paris, you will probably meet with some French architects, who would advise you better on this point than I could, their experience in such construction being very great; if, as I think is probable you intend to use, rolled iron beams for the Terrace, I may tell you that you may possibly spare yourself the trouble of ordering them in London, for the greater part of such beams as are used in England come from Belgium and France; I should have much pleasure in advising you as to the strength of these beams, but your letter does not give sufficient data for me to fix their size.

As I should be very pleased to hear that your building has turned out satisfactorily, I should be glad if you would let your Architect send me a rough tracing, of a section of the floors showing how you constructed them, and with many regrets that I could not be of more real service to you.

Dear Sir,

I am in receipt of yours of yesterday, and I fear I do not merit the praise of your friend Mr. S. Fergusson. In fact I have not the honour of knowing him; I also beg to assure you that I had not the least idea of your engaging my services in the construction of your house at Athens. I only wished if possible to have been able to give a hint or two, that might have been useful to you. I am very glad to hear that your Architect at Athens thinks well of your proposal, and I sincerely hope that the floors will be a great success; your fear as to the terrace being made perfectly waterproof is well founded, there is a difficulty in doing this in a climate where the changes of temperature are very great.
